Project goals and objectives

- To initiate a formal and comprehensive community health assessment process that will allow for the identification of key health, safety and services issues, and a systematic review of those items in Logan County.

- To create an infrastructure that will permit ongoing updating and easy dissemination of available data, and enable a continued partnership.

- To create a health profile that will allow for prioritization of needs and resource allocation, informed decision making and collective action that will improve health outcomes.

“This study is providing wonderful information about how to target programs that will help people lead healthier lives,” said Tammy Allison, COO Mary Rutan Foundation/Community Relations. “There is a strong partnership in this effort between public and private organizations and people. This collaboration has helped us reach all sectors of the community. I believe this cooperation is one of Logan County’s biggest strengths.”

Data collection and review

Community health information was gathered using several methods:

- Over 10,800 Logan County households were surveyed to gather information about healthcare, quality of life, wellness, environment, safety, parenting and social and demographics. Twenty percent of Logan County households (2,200) responded to the anonymous survey. Called a Behavioral Risk Factor Survey, these surveys are the only source of county specific estimates that quantify the prevalence of various behaviors, medical conditions, and preventive health care practices among Logan County adults.

- Community focus groups were held to discuss perceptions of needs, access to available health care programs and priorities.

- More than 35 health and human service providers and professionals from across the county came together for the purpose of this survey. These community partners included professionals in the areas of hospital administration, public health, health and wellness, health and human services, industry, counseling, education, children’s development, aging, law enforcement and local government.

Telling the story

Implementation plans

Mary Rutan Hospital and each participating organization will utilize this information according to community needs and their own unique strengths. Efforts will be coordinated across the county to help ensure adequate availability of needed services and efforts to improve at risk findings. Four action groups have been formed and are working collaboratively to address these issues. Those groups include: Healthy People & Behaviors, Stable Families, Young People Succeeding and Safe & Supportive Neighborhoods.

Other Needs Identified in the CHNA But Not Addressed in this Plan

Two other topic areas were identified by the Community Health Risk and Needs Assessment Report and community review and priority setting: Unemployment and Transportation (Evening and Weekend).

While we will focus the majority of our efforts on the identified needs outlined in the table above that are obvious for Mary Rutan Hospital to address, we will support community efforts in these areas through participation with the Logan County Family and Children First Council and the Logan County Chamber of Commerce. These topics area are not addressed in Mary Rutan Hospital’s Plan of Action due to limited resources and the need to allocate significant resources to the priority health needs identified above.
